FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

An Auspicious Opening Yesterday.

ALA IS NOT YET READY

Plumbing in Old Warehouse Must be Attended to--Crowded High School.

The school bell, the school bell, what joy its tinkling brings. To the parents of the boys and girls on whose behalf it rings! It promises a spell of peace to many a happy home, Proclaiming that an end at last to holidays has come.

The school bell, the school bell, its every stroke brings woe. To a little world of children who now to learn must go; They hear its dismal summoning and haste—I do not think, To revel in an ecstasy of paper, pens and ink.

The school bell, the school bell, the house-cat purrs with joy, And the much bepestered puppy dog, smells rest without alloy; He "how wow wow's" contentedly, while kitty tenor sings A hymn of praise unto the days whereon the school bell rings.

H. M. AYRES.

Vacation ended yesterday for several thousand school children of this City and after three months of good times and nothing to do they took up their books and went back to work once more.

As usual the attendance the first day was somewhat under the numbers which the schools will eventually have, for many parents have not yet prepared their children for school and others are away and still others neglected to send them for the first day. In another week the schools will all be running at full blast and the regular work of the term will have begun.

At the Kaahumanu school, the large new one on Beretania street, were 337, an excellent showing. Of these fifty-four were children who had not before attended school. At the Kaula school in Palama the attendance was not much over half of what it will be later in the year and the majority of the schools gave in like reports.

The new school in Ala warehouse will not open for another week. A defect was found in the plumbing and Plumbing Inspector Duffy refused to allow the work to go on until it was remedied. It is expected that the school will open on Monday next without fail. Superintendent Atkinson, who has been at Waiwala for the past week or so, is expected back to the City on Wednesday and there will in all likelihood be a meeting of the Board of Education on Saturday.

The High School opened under most favorable conditions. Professor M. M. Scott said every desk was occupied and, in fact, there were really more pupils who applied, than could be accommodated. The High School will seat 200 pupils, so it can readily be seen how eager were these young Honoluluans to avail themselves of its privileges. No actual study took place yesterday. Mr. Scott and his able faculty have made no changes in the courses; but the classification of studies, the examination of pupils and the giving out of books, consumed the morning hours. Today the regular work begins as if nothing at all had happened and no vacation had interfered with the ordinary routine.

Professor Scott spoke of the three or four schools, in their rather dilapidated buildings, having been merged into one, now being held in the large and handsome building on Beretania street. "This new building," said Professor Scott, "has twelve class rooms and accommodates between 500 and 600 pupils. No, it is not at all difficult to control this small army of children. It is chiefly a question of organization and for my part, I believe it to be really easier to manage a large number of children than a small number."

Today the bright and happy children will troop to school carrying their little baskets and with the terrors of the "first day" effaced from their faces and minds.

OLD EQUIPMENT PAU.

Uncle Sam's New Outfits In Use Now all Over Islands.

Yesterday the Hawaiian postal equipment went into service all over the Islands. Henceforth the old pouches and bags which have been in use for so many years under the Republic will not be used. The new pouches are especially made for the Hawaiian Islands and are very handsome. The keys and locks were sent out about two weeks ago with instructions as to their use and the penalty for their loss.

Nothing new in regard to the mail service on the inter-island boats has developed. Mr. Carr, the Superintendent of Railway Mail Service, is in charge of this matter but it is understood nothing definite from his department has been heard. This department looks after the appointment of mail clerks to serve on the steamers whose duties are to separate and pouch the mail in transit.
